The Honorable James Richard Perry
Secretary of Energy
U.S. Department of Energy
1000 Independence Avenue, SW
Washington, DC 20585-1000

Dear Secretary Perry:

The Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board (Board) is holding a public hearing at the Board's Washington, DC, headquarters on September 13, 2017, to discuss the status of emergency management across the Department of Energy's (DOE) defense nuclear facilities (DNF). This hearing will focus on actions DOE has taken in response to the Board's Recommendation 2014-1, Emergency Preparedness and Response, and any other DOE actions to improve DNF complex emergency management.

Your participation will provide us with valuable information in support of our mission to ensure adequate protection of the public and worker safety at DOE's DNFs. The format for this hearing will include you or your designee making a prepared statement and responding to questions from Board Members.

The current proposed agenda for the hearing is enclosed. The Board will post the agenda on its web page, <http://www.dnfsb.gov>, and will update the agenda periodically as it finalizes preparations for the hearing.

Proposed Agenda

DNFSB Public Hearing on Board Recommendation 2014-1

Emergency Preparedness and Response

Location: DNFSB Headquarters, Washington, DC

Proposed Date: September 13, 2017 (subject to DOE's availability)

Goal: (Per approved request for Board action, document #2017-300-055) The Board will conduct a hearing on the Department of Energy's (DOE) and National Nuclear Security Administration's (NNSA) progress in addressing concerns identified in Board Recommendation 2014-1, Emergency Preparedness and Response. The Board will seek to gather insights on progress in addressing the specific sub-recommendations:

- “1. In its role as a regulator, by the end of 2016, standardize and improve implementation of its criteria and review approach to confirm that all sites with defense nuclear facilities:
 - a. Have a robust emergency response infrastructure that is survivable, habitable, and maintained to function during emergencies, including severe events that can impact multiple facilities and potentially overwhelm emergency response resources.
 - b. Have a training and drill program that ensures that emergency response personnel are fully competent in accordance with the expectations delineated in DOE's directive and associated guidance.
 - c. Are conducting exercises that fully demonstrate their emergency response is capable of responding to scenarios that challenge existing capability, including their response during severe events.
 - d. Are identifying deficiencies with emergency preparedness and response, conducting causal analysis, developing and implementing effective corrective actions to address these deficiencies, and evaluating the effectiveness of these actions.
 - e. Have an effective Readiness Assurance Program consistent with DOE Order 151.IC, Comprehensive Emergency Management System, Chapter X.
2. Update its emergency management directive to address:
 - a. Severe events, including requirements that address hazards assessments and exercises, and “beyond design basis” operational and natural phenomena events.
 - b. Reliability and habitability of emergency response facilities and support equipment.
 - c. Criteria for training and drills, including requirements that address facility conduct of operations drill programs and the interface with emergency response organization team drills.
 - d. Criteria for exercises to ensure that they are an adequate demonstration of proficiency.
 - e. Vulnerabilities identified during independent assessments.”
