DOE's oversight policy, DOE as 2 On everyone knows, is a broad-based organization. Even 3 though the Board's interface is primarily within NNSA 4 and EM, we have to keep in mind that DOE's policy is 5 6 to accommodate all of its program structured Second, DOE's policy in this area is a 7 missions. floor, not a ceiling, and it does not eliminate the 8 need for managers to manage their business. 9 It 10 establishes boundaries. it doesn't tell us specifically how to do that, and we have to look at 11 12 the work that we're doing, [that], fit within that 13 boundary, so that when it comes to oversight, I think 14 Roy probably said it best, but I think you heard it 15 from each one of them. The expectation is that we 16 have very capable, technical resources because there 17 is no way to cover every area in writing. We need 18 smart people who contribute to the work that we're 19 doing, and that's what we expect our managers to do, 20 and that's the expectation of me. 21 In accelerated clean-up and its impact on 22 safety, I wanted to make sure that didn't we 23 attribute changes in DOE to things that weren't the 24 drivers. The policy itself, as you've probably 25 heard, is draft. We've made changes in the way we

out oversight, not necessarily because of a 1 carrv good policy, it's because we believe it's 2 draft business practice, it's the thing to do. Accelerated 3 We actually started clean-up is the same way. 4 changes to our infrastructure in this program before 5 there was an accelerated clean-up program. When I б came into the program, it doesn't take very -- you 7 don't have to look very deep, and the Board sees 8 these areas of concerns too, as there were lots of 9 10 assessments and lots of corrective actions, but very few things being changed. What we're interested in 11 an effective assessment program, both DOE 12 and is 13 contractor, that is affecting what's actually being So the measure is what actually gets done, for 14 done. Accelerated clean-up, you can eliminate the word 15 us. accelerated, and just say get work done, because 16 17 that's what we're about and that's what we're 18 interested in. At the end of the road, we still have Where we introduce the new hazards 19 to get work done. 20 in the accelerated clean-up program is the process by 21 which we get there. The thought process and the rigor, and we have somewhat different approaches at 22 23 each site, but I think you will see that the themes 24 run through all of those operations consistently.

Then, I actually did have the opportunity to read Mr. Hicks' statement. Some of the NNSA folks 1 from yesterday were gracious enough to call me last 2 night and make sure I saw that, and I appreciated 3 You raised this with some of the other 4 that. managers who had not had the opportunity to do that, 5 so I wanted to address it. I certainly cannot take 6 issue with his assessment of what he sees. His 7 statement was primarily focused on NNSA with one 8 sweeping characterization of the EM program, and that 9 characterization that ΕM is eliminating 10 was requirements that have provided the defense-in-depth 11 protection from major consequences, and I didn't want 12 13 to let this go without saying that I totally and completely disagree with that, and if I didn't, if I 14 15 thought it were true, then I wouldn't be doing what I 16 was doing, because that obviously is not the goal of what we're trying to accomplish. 17 18 On the Columbia report, the thing that was most striking to me, and we've spent a couple of 19

20 days with our managers and a subset of our Facility 21 Reps, talking about it, the most striking thing to me 22 was the fact that the technical organization, which 23 we are, and is also, you know, a characterization of 24 the nuclear industry, very highly technical 25 organizations developed over some period of time an air of arrogance in that it only knows the way to do 1 things, and so we are not just looking at statistics, 2 although those statistics are requirements and are 3 provided, but many of the things that we're doing is 4 don't become arrogant 5 ensure that we an to organization in thinking that just because it was the б 7 way it always was that it's the right way to do it. I heard nothing but glowing 14 comments, and we're considering, if we can afford 15 him, to have him speak to our broader staff. So. 16 thank you. 17 CHAIRMAN CONWAY: Thank you very much. 18 As always, you make it very Anybody? Thank you. 19 succinct and right to the point. 20 MS. ROBERSON: Thank you. I know it's 21 lunch time. 22 CHAIRMAN CONWAY: No, it's past lunch 23 time. Okay, well, thank you all, and is there anyone 24 in the audience that wishes to say something at this 25 point?
